

Kewill Transport

A fully integrated solution providing end-to-end visibility of the transport and distribution process

With just-in-time supply chains, fast-changing fashions, increasing route congestion and rising fuel costs, transport and distribution companies are under constant pressure to do more, do it better and do it faster. And with competition keen, customers can move their business in an instant if you don't come up to scratch. As a result, smart transport companies are looking for ways to streamline their operations, become more agile and differentiate their customer service.

Business benefits

- Improved customer service
- Competitive advantage
- Increased productivity and efficiency
- Reduced costs
- Improved cash flow
- Access to Kewill expertise and experience
- Increased responsiveness and agility
- Increased control.

What are your challenges? Are you frustrated by the amount of manual processing that still takes place in your organisation? Do people spend too much time and effort on managing all your partners and sub-contractors? With customers no longer prepared to let their goods disappear into a transport and distribution network “black hole”, perhaps you struggle to provide real-time information and detailed status reports?

Success lies in finding a way to drive down costs while transforming the efficiency of your operations, improving real-time visibility of your processes and gaining the end-to-end control that reduces your exposure to un-detected, un-managed exceptions to plan. We believe that Kewill Transport offers the solution, tailored to your needs whatever your current size, situation or future plans.

Kewill Transport: Your route to transparency

A key element in Kewill's Global Trade Management suite, Kewill Transport is a powerful, easy-to-use solution providing all the functionality you need to run a transport company plus much more besides. By integrating with your enterprise applications and, where appropriate, the back-office applications of your trading partners and sub-contractors, it allows you to capture vital information from all points, transforming a collection of different businesses into a single virtual, real-time enterprise, where everyone receives the information, alerts and notifications they need. This transparency enables people to take a proactive approach to unfolding events, helping prevent process exceptions from becoming business problems.

Kewill Transport's open and flexible framework can be tailored to your own particular needs. An experienced team from Kewill Professional Services skilled in assessing individual requirements will work with you right from the start, examining the unique workflows, business rules and KPIs behind your processes in order to set up the monitoring, notifying, controlling and measuring that your order to delivery network needs.

By improving the integration of your business processes, you can better meet the needs of your customers with a minimum amount of effort on your part. Kewill Transport can automatically provide made-to-measure customer reports. And, as a web-based solution, offers your customers - whether small, medium or large organisations - easy access to the information they need online. A PC and Internet access is all they need to log on to a browser with a user name and password.

Reduced costs, increased productivity

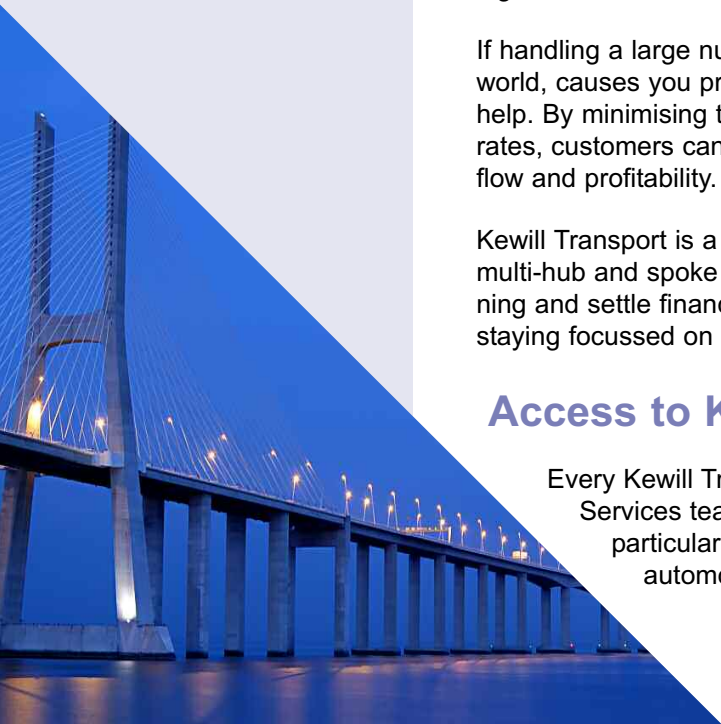

This innovative solution from Kewill provides a comprehensive tool-set that helps manage and control the variables associated with operating a transport business. From defining business processes and monitoring service level agreements through to making the best use of available capacity, it's all covered.

If handling a large number of sub-contractors, possibly based in different parts of the world, causes you problems from a financial perspective, Kewill Transport has tools to help. By minimising the amount of effort needed to manage different tariffs and charge rates, customers can be invoiced more quickly and accurately, improving your cash flow and profitability.

Kewill Transport is a true multi-country, multi-language, multi-currency, multi-company, multi-hub and spoke system, offering you the flexibility to optimise inter-company planning and settle financial arrangements between separate organisational units. All while staying focussed on maximising efficiency and minimising costs.

Access to Kewill expertise and experience

Every Kewill Transport customer is allocated their own Kewill Professional Services team, chosen to offer a breadth and depth of expertise to suit your particular needs. With experts in a wide range of specialist sectors such as automotive, medical, food or dangerous goods your team is sure to provide the right mix of project management, business and technical skills to help recognise and address your business challenges while quickly understanding how to integrate Kewill Transport with your back office systems to ensure seamless processing.

With many years of experience, Kewill is well qualified to advise you on best practice. Our consultants will examine every touch point in your processes and bring together the people affected from right across your business, making sure that your Kewill Transport solution is developed to meet their requirements in the most effective way. As an international company, Kewill is also well placed to deal with multi-national environments. Every element of your business, wherever it is located, can be part of a single Kewill Transport solution with a multi-language environment.

The Kewill Community Development Team is on hand to assist in setting up, providing training and rolling out the solution to all your trading partners and sub-contractors, whether large or small. This allows everyone to remain focussed on core business competencies rather than dedicating resources to managing Kewill Transport.

And Kewill Transport is just one element of Kewill's Global Trade Management solution suite. Covering compliance, customs, freight forwarding, fulfilment, warehousing, visibility and integration, you can pick and choose from these fully integrated, best of breed solutions to meet your entire supply network needs.

Time to stand out from the crowd

In the fight for customer loyalty, Kewill Transport provides you with a key differentiator. Through improved integration with your business partners, better visibility of your business processes and enhanced business agility you can respond more quickly and effectively to customer demands. And by providing your customers with access to the step-by-step progress of their orders, you are not only offering them valuable practical information, you are increasing the trust they have in your business, ensuring a clear competitive advantage for the future.
